

Document 5

From the book The New York, Ontario & Western Railway and the Dairy Industry in Central New York State: Milk Cans, Mixed Trains, and Motor Cars

“The tunnel, cuts and drainage of the Northfield area required the constant attention of section crews. Many new immigrants found work on these O. & V. V. section gangs and they, in turn, encouraged others to leave their European villages and join them in America.”

—Robert E. Mohowski. p. 179